

Is Pet Insurance Right For Me?

Family pets are a part of our lives. They are our companions, guardians, and best friends. But just like any loved one, they can fall into harm's way or become seriously ill.

Medical technology improves daily and now provides options for pets that were once reserved only for people. However, technology can be expensive; not only must a veterinarian cover the costly equipment, but also the expense of professional training and continuing education to keep staff up-to-date on the latest research and equipment available.

There are options that can help you afford the very best wellness care for your pet, as well as be prepared for the unexpected emergency visit.

There are a number of different insurance companies that offer many different types of plans. There are plans that range from preventative routine care only to accident and illness coverage. Some companies will cover more routine services and some will reimburse you more for emergency care.

The Brooklyn Park Pet Hospital is not affiliated with any insurance company, nor do we recommend one company over the other. If you would like more information regarding insurance coverage, please contact the insurance company directly. To help get you started, we have listed a few pet insurances companies to research.
